There is more land in cultivation within Elba's trade territory this year than in many years and although prices may not be as high as they should be, still there will be considerable money to spend for much-needed merchandise, and

It Is Up To Elba Merchants To Hold This Trade In Elba

To do this, our merchants must offer some special inducements and let the people know about them. Elba stores are probably selling goods as cheap as can be found elsewhere, but unless the Elba merchants tell the people about it, many buyers will go and buy from merchants who do tell them.

dithen above statement was made by Director L. N. Duncan of the Extension Service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute after a study of experiments in feeding cotton-seed meal to dairy cattle, beef cattle, work animals, hogs, and sheep. "Cottonseed meal," he said, should form a part of the ration of each of these groups of farm animals."

For many years cottonseed meal has been fed to dairy cows and heef cattle. A few farmers have fed it to work animals but the number is almost negligible compared to the opportunity. It is good feed for horses and mules and it is cheap.

Recent experiments have shown that limited amounts of cottonseed with a limited amounts of cottonseed when limited amounts of cottonseed with a limited with corn for hogging of probate of Coffee County, Alabama, in Mortgage Book F-3, Page 360, and WHEREAS, default has been mortgage and in the performance of the indebtedness secured by said mortgage and wor
